

United Kingdom

Customer Loyalty Index 2024

Featuring research from respondents across the United Kingdom, as part of a global campaign across the United States, Australia, Germany, and the United Arab Emirates

Sara Richter

CMO, SAP Emarsys

"Customer loyalty is the holy grail of marketers. From repeat purchases to average order value, and customer lifetime value, loyalty can have a significant impact on brands' business objectives. But today, the nature of loyalty is changing.

In 2024, AI empowers marketers to create incredible connected experiences, making it easier for people to discover a wide array of platforms; reducing the friction involved in spending their money elsewhere.

With the process for switching brands and services increasingly streamlined, marketers must ask themselves, what does loyalty look like from the customer perspective? How do today's customers think and feel about loyalty? And what does it take to ignite true loyalty, then secure it long-term?

These are questions that we've asked customers in our fourth annual Customer Loyalty Index research. Through this data-driven report, we hope to empower our customers—companies like Aldo Group, PUMA, and thousands of other brands and services across the world in sectors such as Retail, Consumer Packaged Goods, Travel and Transport, Sports and Entertainment, and Utilities—in their journey towards AI-leveraged loyalty building, omnichannel customer engagement."

Methodology

The research was conducted by Opinion Matters, among a sample of 2,010 general respondents across the UK. The data was collected between 12.06.2024 –17.06.2024.

The report also includes data from past research conducted across the UK by Opinion Matters in 2023, with a sample of 2,001 general respondents, 2022, with a sample of 2,000 general respondents, and 2021, with a sample of 2,000 general respondents.

Opinion Matters abides by and employs members of the Market Research Society and follows the MRS code of conduct which is based on the ESOMAR principles. Opinion Matters is also a member of the British Polling Council.

The 5 Types of Customer Loyalty

Each year, SAP Emarsys maps consumers across five key types of customer loyalty:

Incentivised Loyalty

This type of loyalty is developed by offering customers cost-saving or value-adding incentives like discounts and rewards.

Inherited Loyalty

This loyalty is based on a brand's tradition or long-standing heritage, or can be built through associations with other brands.

Silent Loyalty

Silent loyalty occurs when a customer demonstrates loyalty to a brand that they would not endorse or advocate for publicly.

Ethical Loyalty

This loyalty occurs when a customer is loyal to a brand that aligns with their individual values or stance on strong social issues.

True Loyalty

True loyalty is unwavering, unshakeable loyalty built on trust, love, and devotion to a brand—the holy grail of customer loyalty, and what all brands aspire to achieve.

2024 Loyalty Levels

2022 ushered in peak levels of loyalty—with 73% of consumers surveyed in the UK saying they were “loyal” to certain retailers, brands and stores. But as the tough economic environment globally continues, overall loyalty is down 12% and 8% in 2023 and 2024, respectively.

New technologies may be impacting this shift. Artificial Intelligence (AI) makes it easier for customers to discover a wide array of alternatives and compare platforms, encouraging them to switch brands easily. Brands are also becoming savvier about using AI to build better, more personalised omnichannel experiences, allowing them to entice once loyal customers from their competitors.

Percent of respondents “loyal” to certain retailers, brands and stores

Loyalty Across Generations

Globally our research indicates that loyalty tends to deepen across generations*. When consumers were asked about their sense of loyalty, the global data showed that it strengthens with age and this is especially true in the US. It’s a different story in the UK, however, with loyalty decreasing somewhat as people get older. This underscores the importance for brands to begin fostering loyalty early, working hard with enhanced, personalised customer experiences that build lasting loyalty from the start.

*Generations are divided in terms of age as: Gen Z (16 to 27), Millennials (28-43), Gen X (44-59), Baby Boomers (60+)

Changes in Consumers' Loyalty Types

Over the past four years, loyalty types in the UK have fluctuated with Ethical Loyalty and True Loyalty experiencing the biggest increases, with 53% and 93% increases between 2021 and 2024, respectively. These shifts reflect a shift towards responsible shopping and strong brand connections. Incentivised Loyalty remained stable over the past three years, indicating that discounts are still a crucial factor in retaining customers.

Incentivised Loyalty

Inherited Loyalty

Silent Loyalty

Ethical Loyalty

True Loyalty

Loyalty by Sector

Although Clothing & Fashion remained first on the list of sectors British consumers surveyed are most loyal to, Food Delivery and Beauty & Skincare saw the largest year-on-year growth with 14%- and 12%-point increases, respectively. Consumer Packaged Goods are new to the list and show people are still willing to stay with a packaged brand they love.

Thinking about the retailers that you are most loyal to, which industries are they in?

What Drives Customer Loyalty

When looking at the top factors that impact UK customers' loyalty to a brand, we see new factors emerging in 2024, including—on the positive side—memorable experiences, and—on the negative side—irresponsible data usage and making it harder to speak to a human. At the same time, environmental consciousness continues to grow as a loyalty driver, while the rise of subscription-based buying and 'DTC' brands continue to provide a new channel for 'locked in' loyalty.

What positively impacts brand loyalty?

High-quality products

Brand longevity

Consistent branding

Being 'iconic'

Staying out of politics

Creating memorable experiences

What negatively impacts brand loyalty?

Increasing prices

Poor customer service

Drop in quality

Being irresponsible with customers' data

Start charging returns

Make it harder to speak to a human

Factors Driving Customers to Switch Brands

In 2024, UK customers surveyed are still most likely to switch brands due to cost considerations with 64% attributing this as the motive for switching (versus 61% in 2023). While prices are an important factor, a reduction in product quality (57%) and a bad shopping experience (51%) could be the catalyst for losing loyal customers to a competitor. Factors like sustainability practices also influence nearly a third of UK respondents when it comes to loyalty.

How Customers Express Loyalty

When asked how they show loyalty to their preferred retailers, British consumers' responses revealed consistent patterns to those from 2023, highlighting ongoing consumer behaviours that foster brand loyalty through active engagement and advocacy.

Additionally, 33% have increased their use of loyalty schemes—a 50% increase from 2023—highlighting the need for brands to adapt with personalised and cost-effective solutions to maintain loyalty.

Thinking about the retailers you are most loyal to, how do you most commonly show your loyalty, if at all?

Shopping with them frequently

Using their loyalty card / scheme

Recommending them to friends and family

Installing their app

of consumers surveyed are using more loyalty schemes in 2024—up from 22% in 2023

SAP Emarsys Partner Insight

"Understanding nuances in customer loyalty is crucial for brands aiming to deepen their engagement strategies. The insights in the Customer Loyalty Index are invaluable because they highlight the diverse stimuli that drive loyalty or cause churn.

For us, two trends stand out. One, consumers are increasingly likely to switch brand loyalty due to a negative experience, making it essential for brands to deliver an exceptional customer experience at every interaction. Two, shifting loyalty patterns particularly among younger generations due to brand boredom or sustainability issues, drive home the need for brands to stay ahead of consumer values and preferences.

Against this backdrop, building lasting loyalty means creating tailored loyalty programmes that engage, recognise and reward customers uniquely. Recognition is essential to foster loyalty, and is often more impactful than rewards, which are frequently equated with discounts in consumers' minds. By tapping into something deeper, recognition aligns seamlessly with personalisation, making customers feel seen and valued.

To truly foster this connection, AI-driven personalisation and an omnichannel approach are essential, ensuring a unified and meaningful customer experience across all touchpoints."

Erin Raese
SVP Growth & Strategy, Annex Cloud

In-depth analysis #1

Mobile Loyalty

How in-app shopping is impacting customer loyalty

The Impact of Mobile Apps on Loyalty

According to Statista, over two thirds (69%)* of UK consumers use their mobile device for online purchases. Given this booming market, we examined what keeps mobile app users loyal. Our research reveals a significant insight: British consumers surveyed who have their favourite brands' apps on their phones are more driven by offers and other incentives (39%) compared to those who don't use apps.

This highlights the crucial role that promotional offers play in influencing mobile consumer behaviour and loyalty to brands when done in a personalised way. Consumers who download and keep their preferred brands' apps are not just casual users; they are highly engaged and motivated by the benefits these apps offer. This behaviour underscores the importance for brands to focus on creating compelling incentives within their mobile apps to maintain and grow customer loyalty.

Loyalty Types Among Consumers Using Mobile Apps

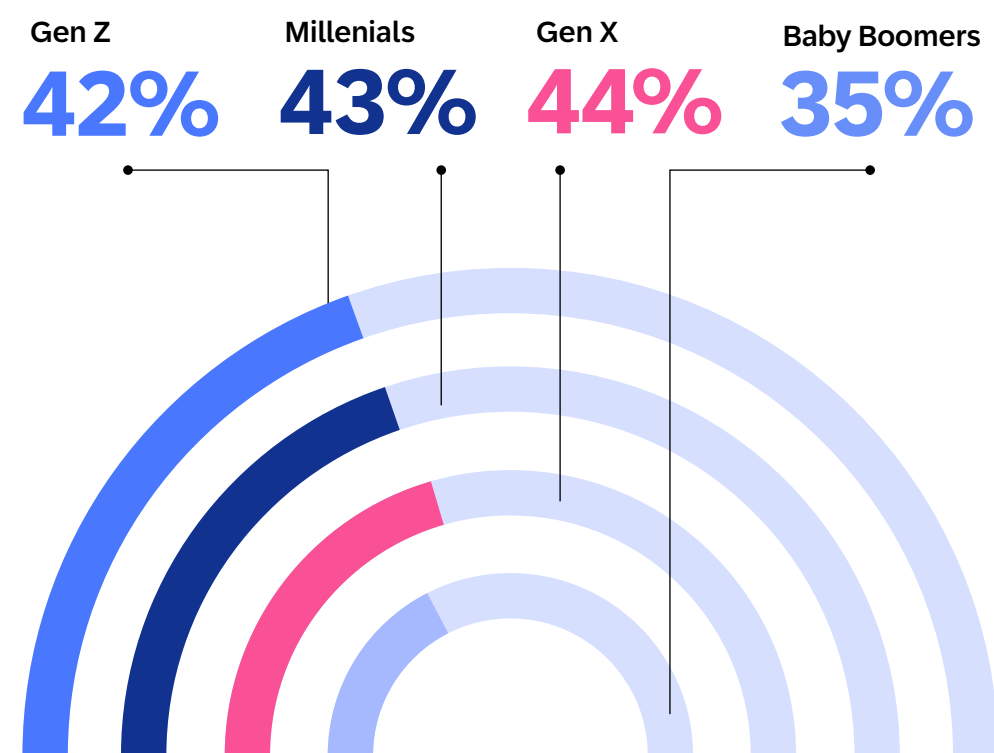

*Source: <https://www.statista.com/forecasts/997875/most-common-online-purchases-by-device-in-the-uk>

Why Consumers Use Apps

Consumers are using mobile apps for more tasks than ever before, both in the UK and around the world. Surprisingly, in the UK there isn't a strong generational divide when it comes to app usage. UK consumers of all ages are tech savvy. Gen X surveyed is the most likely to download a favourite app with Millennials and Gen Z close behind.

App Usage by Generation

Top Prompts To Using App

71%

will use an app more often because of rewards and incentives

47%

will use an app more often because of helpful prompts*

46%

will use an app more often because of personalised messages

39%

will be more likely to use an app because of a referral from a friend

*e.g. order updates, new release updates, additional services available, upgrade options, service delays, withdrawal notifications

Consumers' Favourite Apps

The top 5 apps used by British respondents generally matched those in our global ranking, with the exception of banking which takes first place ahead of shopping. These apps have a wide appeal across generations. Although Gen Z love entertainment apps (55% have them on their phones), 49% have also downloaded a banking app.

Top 5 Apps Most Regularly Used

Apps Most Regularly Used by Younger Generations (Gen Z and Millennials)

Apps Most Regularly Used by Older Generations (Gen X and Baby Boomers)

*average percentages.

Reaching Out: How Consumers Want to Be Contacted

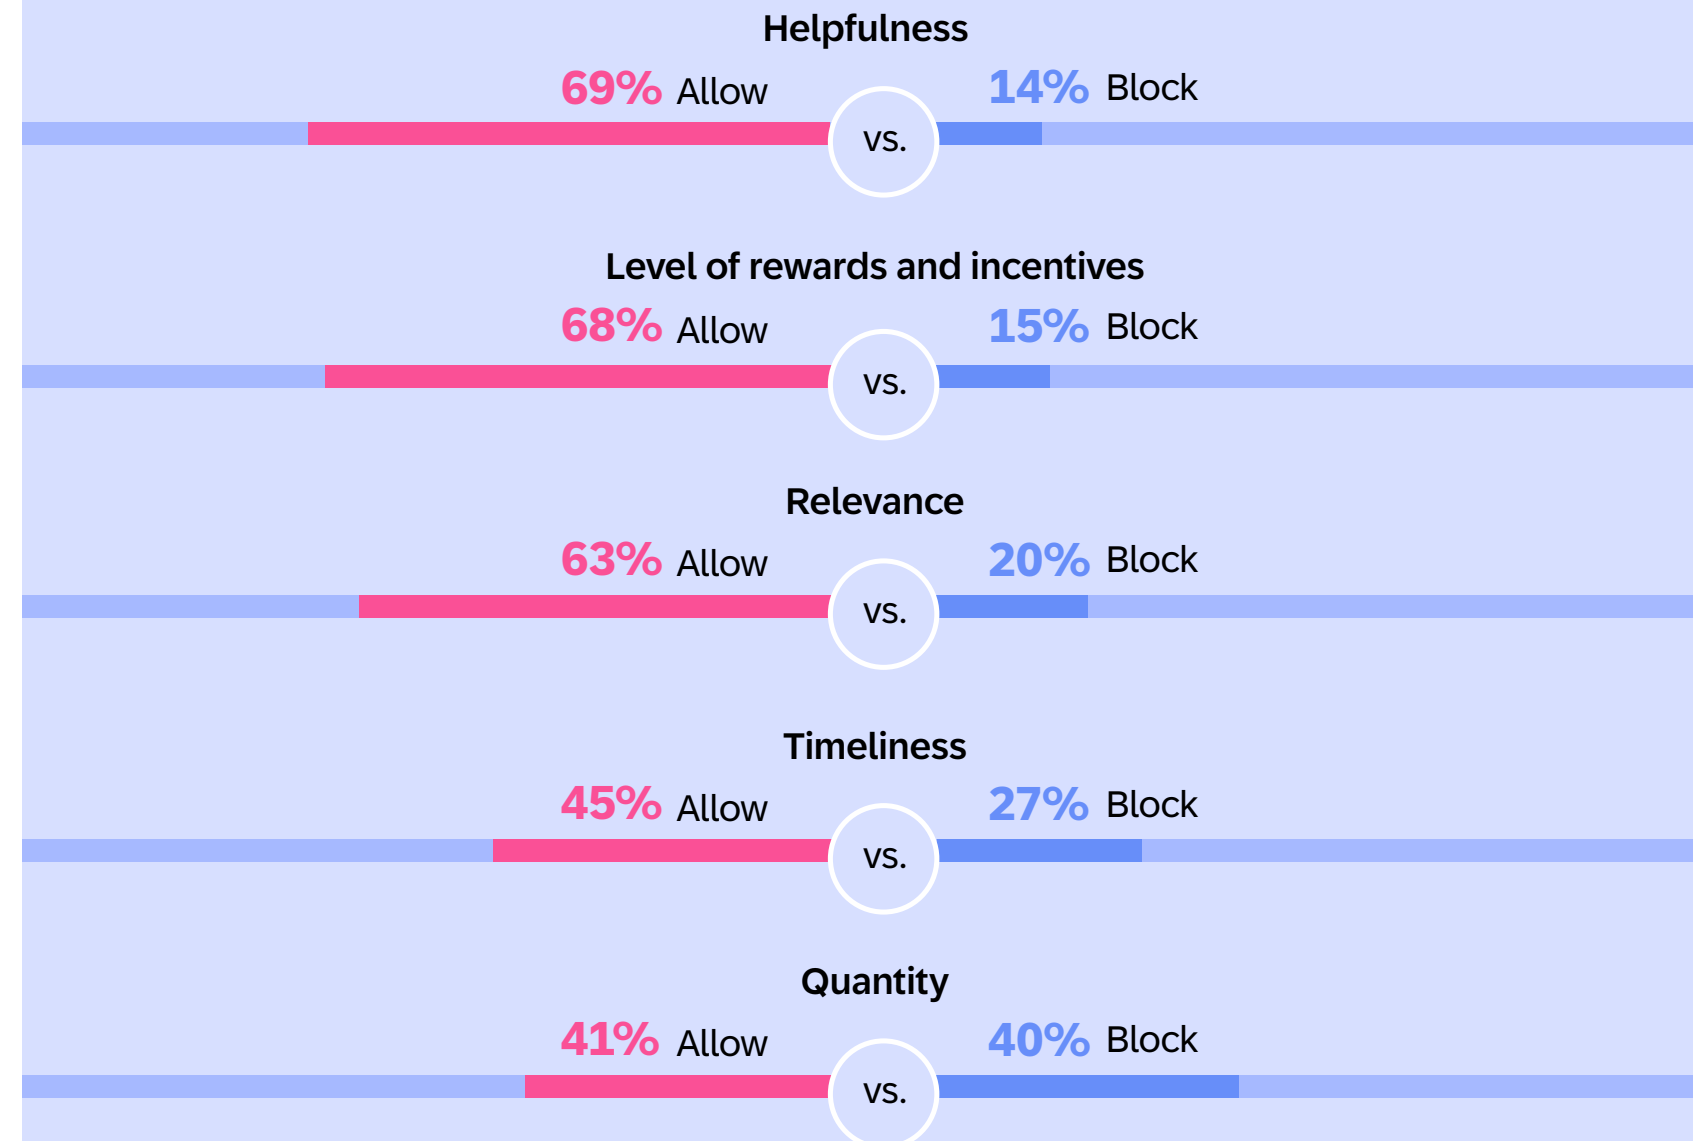

When it comes to loyalty, communication is king. That means brands must connect with potential customers in a way that appeals to them.

Consumers' preferred communication channels

Overall, brands looking to encourage their British customers to use their apps should pay attention to the helpfulness, level of rewards and incentives, relevance, and timeliness of their messages instead of quantity—last on the list.

What encourages consumers to allow or block messages from apps?

In-depth analysis #2

From Loyalty to Fandom

Loyalty among sports and entertainment fans

Loyalty Among Sports, Music & Entertainment Enthusiasts

Nowhere is loyalty more prevalent than among 'fans'—those absolutely committed to a sport, team or even their favourite band. By examining these groups, brands can learn about their approach to loyalty and building a fanbase of their own. When it comes to the world of sport, UK customers surveyed are most loyal to:

When other interests, such as music and entertainment, are added into the equation, loyalties soar high.

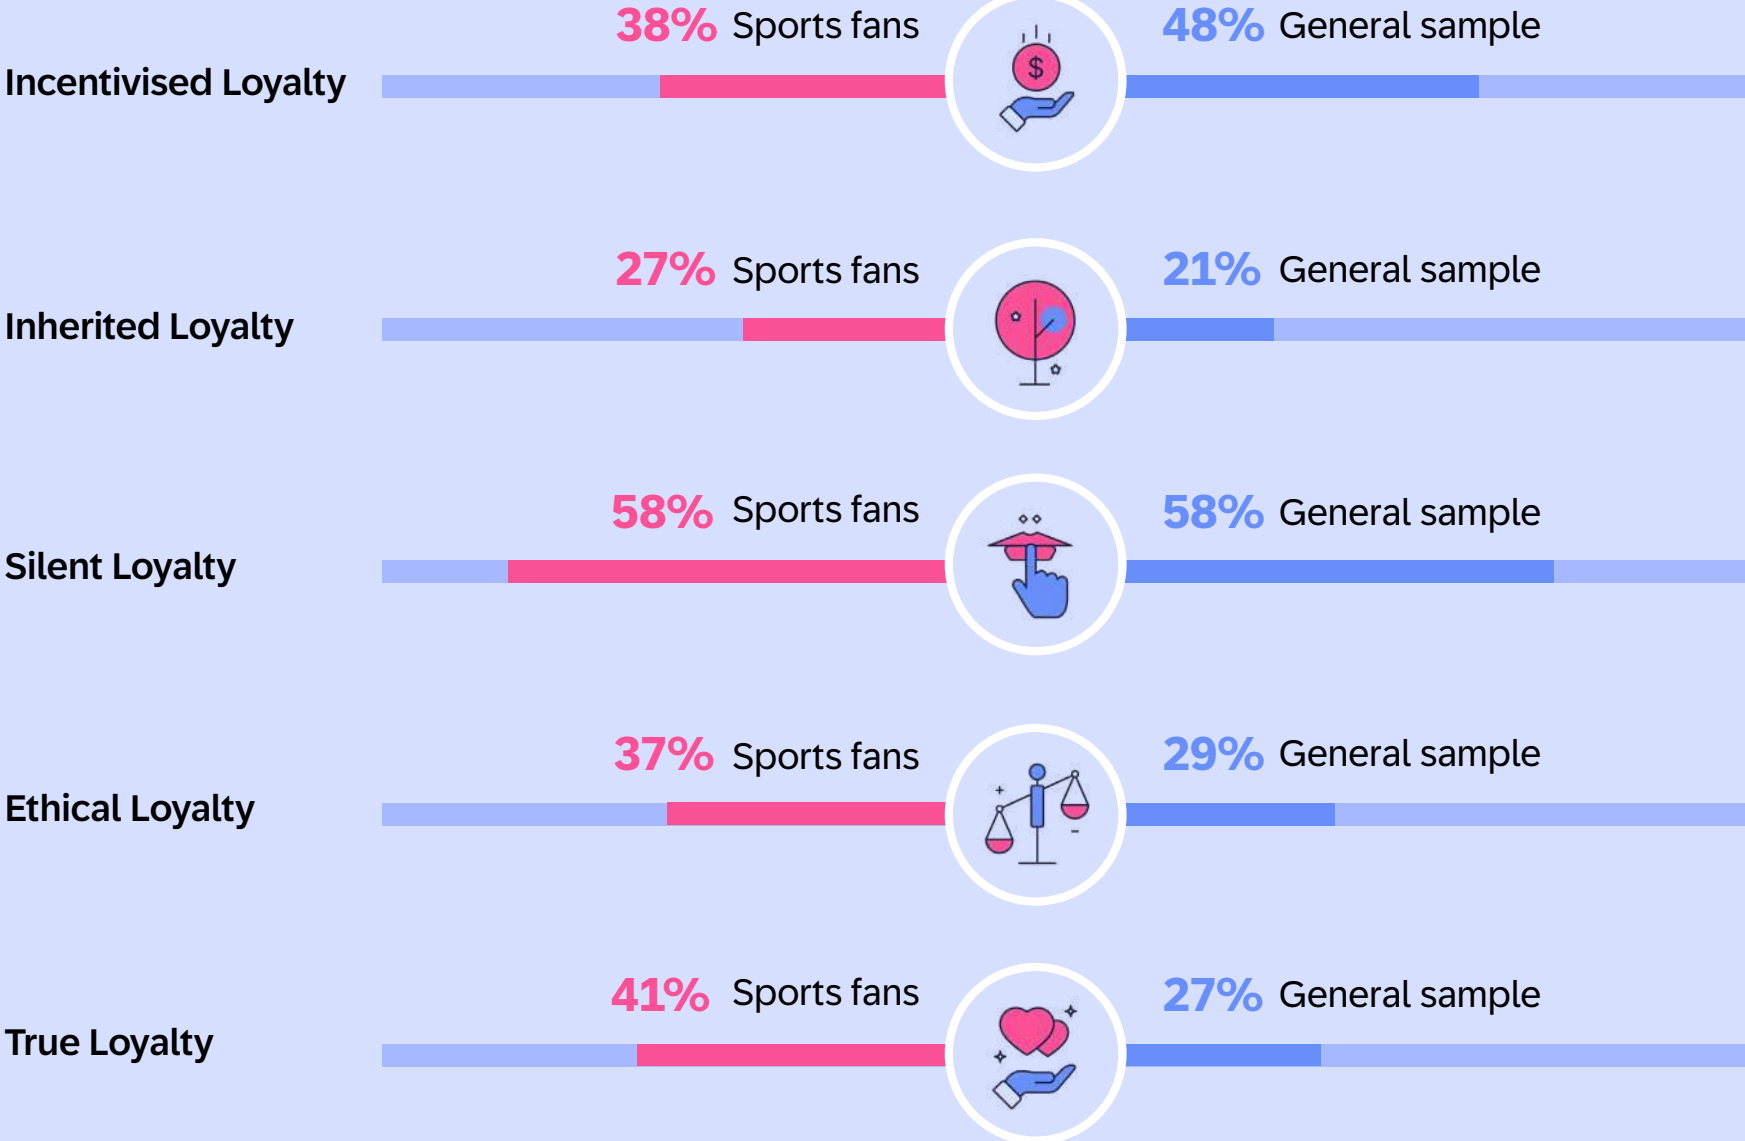

Sports Fans and their Loyalty to Brands

When we think of loyal groups, sports fans are some of the first to come to mind; and for good reason! It seems fan loyalty carries beyond their favourite team and extends into other areas, with 80% of sports fans surveyed generally acting as more loyal consumers than other Brits surveyed (67%). This trend is true across almost every loyalty type measured in the Customer Loyalty Index. Most notably, UK sports fans are 52% more likely to display True Loyalty—being entirely devoted to certain products, retailers and brands and services—than the general sample.

19% Sports fans are 19% more loyal than other Brits

In-depth analysis #3

Consumer Packaged Goods Loyalty

Loyalty trends among CPG shoppers

Loyalty Types Among CPG Shoppers

When analysing loyalty types among CPG shoppers in the UK, we observed notable differences compared to the general population.

CPG shoppers surveyed are 17% more likely to be loyal to brands that provide incentives and rewards. Additionally, they are 24% more likely to exhibit True Loyalty—demonstrating a strong commitment to specific products, retailers, brands, and services—compared to the general sample.

Key Drivers and Expectations of Loyalty Among CPG Consumers

Our analysis reveals distinct patterns in consumer loyalty among CPG shoppers compared to the other respondents in the UK. CPG shoppers place a higher value on product quality, brand longevity, and political neutrality, and they are more engaged in demonstrating their loyalty through frequent shopping, but also through loyalty programmes, recommendations, and app usage. They also have specific expectations in return for their loyalty, including reduced prices, excellent customer service, and rewards such as loyalty points and cashback.

Top factors that most positively impact the loyalty of CPG shoppers

CPG shoppers most commonly show their loyalty to a brand by

Top factors that CPG shoppers expect in exchange for their loyalty to a brand

In-depth analysis #4

Luxury Loyalty

Loyalty among fans of high-end or exclusive brands

Loyalty Among Luxury Shoppers

Another area explored in this year’s Customer Loyalty Index report is the relationship between luxury customers surveyed* and brands. Over half (55%) of luxury customers in the UK are influenced by Incentivised Loyalty—retailers offering them discounts, incentives, and rewards. Unlike the general sample however, they are 40% more likely to show True Loyalty to a brand, making them some of the most devoted customers to certain brands and retailers.

*Respondents who answered “they produce high quality / exclusive products” to the question “What best explains why you are loyal to particular retailer(s)?”

The Likes and Dislikes of Luxury Shoppers

Perhaps unsurprisingly for luxury shoppers, quality is king. At a time when many brands are cutting product quality to reduce costs, luxury brands cannot afford to make the same mistake, with 61% of luxury buyers saying a drop in quality would negatively impact their loyalty. Consumers also expect a higher level of service from luxury brands. When compared to non-luxury brands, a single bad customer service experience is 33% more likely to impact loyalty.

While these brands can still offer incentives, rather than competing on price, luxury retailers need to focus on building their brands, promoting their heritage, longevity and 'iconic' status.

What positively impacts brand loyalty?

High-quality products

Brand longevity

Being 'iconic'

Staying out of politics

Creating memorable experiences

What negatively impacts brand loyalty?

Drop in quality

Poor customer service

Increasing prices

Being irresponsible with customers' data

Conduct false/ deceiving advertising

Driving Customer Loyalty in 2024 and Beyond

Key takeaways

- 1 Focus on Personalisation: Providing personalised offers and content is essential for loyalty. Brands should leverage AI to find data and insights to tailor their offerings to individual customer preferences.
- 2 Create Memorable Experiences: With high-quality products and memorable experiences emerging as key loyalty drivers, brands should focus on creating unique and positive customer experiences, in-store or online.
- 3 Leverage Mobile Apps: Investing in mobile app development and ensuring the app provides valuable features and rewards can significantly boost customer loyalty. Apps should be user-friendly and offer personalised content and incentives.
- 4 Prioritise Product Quality and Pricing: Maintaining high product quality and offering competitive prices are crucial for retaining customer loyalty. Brands should focus on these aspects to meet consumer expectations.
- 5 Encourage Active Engagement: Encourage customers to actively engage with the brand through frequent shopping, recommendations, and using loyalty cards and mobile apps. Active engagement fosters deeper loyalty.
- 6 Enhance Customer Service: Excellent customer service remains a significant factor in fostering loyalty. Brands should invest in training and support to ensure customer interactions are positive and helpful.
- 7 Offer Incentives and Rewards: Incentivised loyalty is nuanced and hard to get right, particularly in a sector where customers can be put off by lowering prices. Discounts may attract a one-off visit but to ignite true loyalty, regular loyalty points, VIP experiences and exclusive offers can be vital to provide an elevated experience to keep customers engaged over a longer period.

Watch On-Demand Omnichannel & AI Masterclass

Click here

Supercharge Your Omnichannel Customer Engagement

Click here